

Louise Maine Coon Cat Breeder & Owner

Sadly my pictures are not as clear I would like but it gives you the idea. I plugged in the diffuser , turned away for a fraction of a second, turned back and they were worshipping the wall! It was hysterical. I have 12 cats, so they were all trying to squeeze in:)) They have calmed down but they do seem to love it. They have all been stuck indoors today as it is wet and everyone is snoozing happily.

can I suggest you have a face book page. We are a large group of cat breeders from all areas of the UK who stay in touch through FB. We could start linking to your fb page:))

Oh..I would love the human version too..would love to see it!!

RSPCA Westmorland Branch Kendal

“Just writing to let you know we have tried your Pet Remedy plug-in diffuser in our rescue cattery, and the results have been outstanding.

Avery nervous cat came in (spitting and growling), with seven days we unplugged the diffuser because the cat was settled and purring.

We now use it on all newcomers and will be trying it out at our kennels for the dogs.”

Mrs S Owner Of Firework Phobic Dog

“I just want to say Thankyou I bought the plug in to keep my dog calm & it really works Thank you so very much it’s the 1st year we have not had to give him tablets to knock him out once again thank you xxx” (with reference to use over bonfire night)

Judy – Dog Owner

“I have used Pet Remedy for a couple of specific situations and found it extremely helpful. I got a

Border collie puppy last November – a breed well known for being somewhat “hyper” – and was concerned as to how she would be, particularly at night during that initial settling in period. She slept through the night from the start and did not seem unduly distressed in any way. I was reluctant to try without the diffuser as things were going so well but there was no doubt she was less settled if I did not have it on.

She is currently in her first season at 9 months and I have again started to use it as she appears confused and distressed as to her usual routine being disturbed and not having her usual exercise. As she is coming into the period where she is likely to be most “interesting” I have not switched it off but will be interested to compare how she is when I feel confident I can do so. As an interesting aside, I woke the other morning amazed at the good sleep I had just had and was wondering why that should be the case (I am normally a poor sleeper). I had completely forgotten I had moved the diffuser into my bedroom.”

“I own a four year old boxador (boxer cross Labrador) who was attacked by a mastiff dog about three weeks ago. She sustained multiple lacerations to both her front legs which thankfully have now healed.

However, after the incident she became withdrawn and would not interact, in fact she just slept most of the day, which was so unlike her. Then we were given a Pet remedy plug in diffuser and within twenty four hours of ‘switching on’ she was back to her normal playful self.

In case there is any doubt about how effective the remedy was, it was accidentally switched off, and she instantly reverted to being lethargic again. As soon as the diffuser was in use again Lacey was back, the remedy is now never touched!

Thank you Pet remedy for giving me back Lacey”

Cat Owner & Breeder www.burmesecatsnkittens.com

“I’m writing to say how well I think your new product ‘Pet Remedy’ is for calming and reducing anxiety in cats. I breed and show Burmese and have a few entire cats at home, and sometimes a queen with a litter of kittens. Queens with kittens can be more anxious than usual as their protective instincts are easily aroused. I have found that using pet remedy has helped my queens to feel calm and relaxed and I now also put a drop on a blanket that I put over the carrier when travelling in the car to vets or shows.

One of my beautiful girls is rather shy in nature and the latest litter of kittens to another queen in the house seemed to be causing her stress. She was running about and licking her flanks in an aggregated manner when she was particularly spooked which is a definite sign of stress. Now after about 6 weeks on pet remedy she is much calmer, happier and far more confident, not more frantic licking either. In addition I put pet remedy on her carrier blanket when we travel between mine and my partners home, as we take the cats with us back and forward. These days she sits on my lap in the passenger seat and purrs enjoying the trip, sometimes looking out of the windows.

I have recommended it to a number of my friends and look forward to hearing their experiences.”

Cat Owner & Business and Developmental Coach

We are quite impressed with your product. It smells lovely. We have an open living space on the ground floor. We have just finished a major build project for the past 9 months and our three cats, Lucy 2, Max 3 and Minnie 1 year continue to be a major part of our home life irrespective of the build around us - and that we are living in despite the chaos. Over the past 3 months we have experienced real issues with poo, wee and fights. As a pet owner, really stressful and obviously concerned for the welfare of our animals - this behaviour is called 'middening' and really a call for help from a pet!

Lucy and Minnie have been adversaries since Minnie arrived. By the way, Minnie adopted us! Lucy welcomed her although nervous and Max, as always relaxed. Max is an ex-rescue cat and had quite a traumatic time. He is chilled. He has always been the peace maker and a very strong personality.

Lucy is pure white, and a pretty cat, very stressy and always has been.

Minnie is a tortoiseshell and very sure of herself. The three are interesting to watch however Lucy has become reclusive, irregular behaviours and defensive. Up until recently she has hidden both to the builders and at night to avoid confronting Minnie. Max is friends to all! By the way Lucy has still been eating and purry with us, with us everyday. Just increasingly twitchy.

Since using your product we have noticed quite a difference in all our cat behaviour, in particular Lucy and Minnie. They actually ate dinner in the same room today - without snarling. For the past 2 weeks, the poo and the wee has stopped. We have used the product now for nearly a month. All the cats relaxed and now snooze regularly together in the afternoon sun. This is such a major advancement. Something else too...

My builder has recently stopped smoking! He has been working in the space that the diffuser is plugged in - he loves it!:-) He claims the first few days of non-smoking, the diffuser has helped! I was quite surprised at the comment.

He is not one for that sort of stuff! Anyway, things are improving now at our country home - and it smells rather lovely too. We do have a large living space, so undoubtedly, we will need to consider 2 or 3 plug-ins to make sure we continue maximising the benefit. Thanks very much Pet Remedy! “

Katie – Horse Owner & Head Girl At Equestrian Centre

“I have a 10 year old Irish Sprots horse mare. Before I tried the Plug in Pet remedy, I could not get into her stable without her lunging at me with her teeth or turn her bum o me & try to kick. I would also not be able to put any rugs on or even tack her up, now she has had it in her stable for just over a month now & I am able to go into her stable with out any problems. I can pretty much do anything to her whilst in the stable, there might be the off day but when that happens it is nothing like it used to be.

Now I have found something that works I will use it all of the time as it has proven that it works”

Dog Owner & Consultant Psychiatrist

“I have used Pet Remedy for a couple of specific situations and found it extremely helpful. I got a Border collie puppy last November – a breed well known for being somewhat “hyper” – and was concerned as to how she would be, particularly at night during that initial settling in period. She slept through the night from the start and did not seem unduly distressed in any way. I was reluctant to try without the diffuser as things were going so well but there was no doubt she was less settled if I did not have it on.

She is currently in her first season at 9 months and I have again started to use it as she appears confused and distressed as to her usual routine being disturbed and not having her usual exercise. As she is coming into the period where she is likely to be most “interesting” I have not switched it off but will be interested to compare how she is when I feel confident I can do so.

As an interesting aside, I woke the other morning amazed at the good sleep I had just had and was wondering why that should be the case (I am normally a poor sleeper). I had completely forgotten I had moved the diffuser into my bedroom!”

These reviews are property of Pet Vet Care Online & Pet Remedy and must not be copied without prior permission
--